SKIMMING LOSSES TENTH OF CREAM
From 10 to 25 per cent of the cream is left in the milk after skimming, says the dairy department of the Nebraska College of Agriculture. At the prevailing price of cream, butter fat makes pretty expensive hog feed. A separator removes practically all the cream from the milk.

AGRICULTURAL COURSE FOR $9
Instruction for the summer session of the College of Agriculture of Nebraska costs but $9. If one has previously matriculated, it will cost but $4. In classes where materials are used, the cost of these are added. The fact that the summer session offers opportunities for students who do not have the necessary preparation to enter the college as a freshmen and like offers opportunity to graduate students and teachers, increases the popularity of studying during the summer at the college of and in the fields themselves. The session begins June 8 and ends July 31.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE TO GRADUATE 89 STUDENTS
Eighty-nine students of the University School of Agriculture, or 37 more than finished their courses last year, will be graduated at Lincoln, April 24, at the eleventh annual commencement. The commencement speaker will be Joseph Wing, an authority on alfalfa, a member of the editorial staff of the Breeder's Gazette, and who for four years lectured at farmers' institutes in Nebraska. His subject will be "The Boy and His Job." The week's program begins Monday, April 20, with a joint entertainment of the Davison and Ophelia Literary Societies. On Tuesday evening a reception will be given by the juniors to the seniors. The senior class day exercises will be held on Wednesday, and the competitive military drill and the alumni banquet on Thursday. The commencement exercises will be held at the Temple theatre Friday evening.

CHOLERAIC PIGS

Pigs from immune sows are not always immune to cholera. Some litters may be farrowed in infected pens and go past weaning time without becoming infected, while others get cholera within two or three weeks after farrowing. The safe method, says the Animal Pathologist at the University Farm, is to give these pigs serum alone at about three weeks, which will usually carry them well past weaning time when they can be given the simultaneous treatment. There are some herds where the pigs seem to be very susceptible to cholera. In these it will be necessary to give serum alone more than once to carry them several weeks past weaning. Pigs given the simultaneous method soon after weaning sometimes lose protection within a few months. To acquire a long time immunity, pigs should weigh at least 50 or 60 pounds at the time of receiving simultaneous treatment. At this weight the immunity usually lasts the ordinary life of the hog, although in some instances hogs that have been proved positively immune at 125 pounds have later developed cholera. Nature is not constant.

TIME TO SOW ALFALFA

This month or next is the time for the spring seeding of alfalfa, either in the eastern or western part of the state, says the Nebraska College of Agriculture. The advantage of planting now is that the plants may be given an early start on account of the spring rains. However, care must be taken to see that alfalfa does not have to contend with a large crop of weeds, or it will be choked. The safest way to prevent a growth of weeds is to clear the ground by previous cultivation. If the field that will be used for alfalfa was plowed in the fall, it should be disked as soon as it can be worked and kept disked and harrowed until seeding time. This will not only destroy the weeds but conserve the moisture. Additional information concerning alfalfa may be had from bulletins No. 120 and 132 from the bulletin department of the University Farm, Lincoln.
